Caution.

EXTRAORDINARY as it may appear, I am compelled by necessity to give notice, as well as by the favour of my fellow beings; not to trust my husband George Dillard—as for many years past he has not assisted me to make provision for himself or me; but has always so soon as by my industry I had got any property by me—he has constantly by his foolish bargains and drunkeness taken all I could make. I therefore beg that no person will trust him with an expectation of getting paid by the hard earnings of me, a poor weakly woman, as I will not pay his contracts if I can help it.

MARY DILLARD.

Pittsburgh, August 3, 1816.

FOR SALE,
That very Valuable Real Estate called
HAMILTON HALL.

THE subscriber, wishing to remove from the country to a town, offers for sale, his beautiful FARM, on which he now resides, ten miles from the city of Pittsburgh, on the southwest bank of the Monongahela river, and two miles from M'Keesport, on the confluence of the Youghioghany and Monongahela rivers, and nearly opposite the mouth of Turtle creek.

This tract consists of about 275 acres of choice land, of which there is nearly 140 acres of first rate river and run bottom—the remainder is excellent tillable upland—there is about 90 acres of river bottom land cleared, which will produce as good corn and grass crops as any in the western country. In point of beauty, as well as excellent quality, this farm is excelled by none. The dwelling house is spacious, 72 feet in length, and one and a half story high, very neat and handsomely finished; a large barn with stables underneath, besides a horse stable, and other out houses, two tenant houses, and an excellent new Saw-mill, with a fall of 22 feet, and a stream of water sufficient for the purpose, for nearly nine months in the year. The same seat will admit of a grist or other mills also. There are several excellent springs for distilling: a handsome garden, stocked with all kinds of shrubbery; a young thriving Orchard, of the best fruit, and more than 3000 sugar trees on said farm.

If desired, there will be sold with the estate 100 full blooded, three fourths, and half blooded MERINO SHEEP, of superior quality and beauty, besides horses, cows, &c. and all kinds of farming utensils. The proximity to Pittsburgh and its excellent market, which unquestionably is the best in the Union, and the convenience as well by land as by water, makes it one of the most desirable and valuable estates in the western country; not only the bottoms but a considerable part of the upland, is excellently calculated for meadow. A full description is deemed unnecessary, as it is presumed the property will not be purchased without viewing it; however, it is calculated the estate will clear from 2500 to $3000 per annum, if well attended to. It is clear of all incumbrance, and an indisputable title will be given.

Besides the above, the subscriber will sell three excellent tracts of BOTTOM LAND, situate about five miles from Harmony, and nine miles from Beaver, 25 miles from Pittsburgh, on the Conequenessing. This land is of the very best quality for meadow or corn; each tract has an improvement upon it; one a saw mill; and another, a good dwelling house, barn, &c.

AMUSING AND SIMPLE EXPERIMENTS IN GALVANISM.

We know not any science which furnishes more experiments that are both entertaining, amusing and useful, than Galvanism.

Experiment 1st. Take any small bird, such as a linnet, whose life has been extinguished not more than two hours, place a small piece of silver in its mouth, and a small piece of zinc or gold in its tail. Connect the two pieces with an iron wire, and the bird will immediately rise up, and expand its wings and flutter round the room as if alive.

Experiment 2d. Let a person apply a flattened piece of zinc to one of the surfaces of his tongue, and a flattened piece of silver to the other surface, without either of the metals touching each other: but each of them provided with a long iron wire; and by passing the wires in a parallel direction through a door, behind which they are brought together and separated alternately; the person who makes the experiment ascertains by the taste he feels on the tongue, the situation of the extremity of each of the wires.

Experiment 3d. A phenomenon, which fifteen years ago, would have been considered as chimerical, has likewise resulted from the experiments on the Galvanic fluid. It is as follows: A nerve, originally united with several cubic lines of muscular flesh, indicates whether two metals are homogeneous or heterogeneous; and whether they are in a state of pure regulus, or in an oxydated state.—It also points out whether the coloration of a mineral substance depends on charcoal, or an oxydation which takes place. The living nervous fibre, is consequently a living anthracoscope, a means of discovering char-coal, almost as certain as the action of iron, and that of Alkalis.

Experiment 4th. Porter drank out of a pewter pot or silver pot, placed upon a server of another metal, has a much stronger taste and richer flavor than when drank without the pot being placed upon a server. If the person who drinks previously moisten his hands with salt and water, the strength and flavor of the liquid will be increased.

Experiment 5th. Tea drank out of China cups with a gold rim, has a richer flavor than tea drank out of cups without a metalic rim.

Experiment 6th. A Galvanic pile or apparatus may be constructed out of vegetables when metals cannot be procured; thus for example, three hundred slices of beat, and the same number of horse raddish, placed alternately, will form a pile as strong as fifty pieces of silver and fifty of zinc.

Experiment 7th. Another curious and well established fact connected with the theory of Galvanism, is, that when a fish, instantly after being taken out of the water is killed by a violent blow on the head, by which the skull is fractured, the irritability and flexibility of the muscles are preserved, much longer than they would have been, if it had been allowed to die with the organs of sensation in an entire state. So very sensible are fishermen of this, that they have recourse to the above practice, with a view to render the fishes they catch, susceptible for a longer time to the operation called crimping. Salmon is one of the fishes the least tenacious of life, insomuch that after having been taken out of the water, it will cease in less than half an hour, to manifest any sign of vitality, provided it be not exposed to any violence. But if, on the other hand, it receives as soon as it is caught, a violent blow on the head, the muscles will continue for the space of more than 12 hours, to exhibit visible signs of irritability. Lynchburg Press.

L'EPEE, TEACHER OF THE DEAF AND DUMB.

From the English Translation of his Work.

M. Bouilly relates that the Russian Ambassador at Paris made the Abbe L'Epee a visit in the year 1780, and offered him a present in money proportioned to the customary munificence of the Empress. This the Abbe declined to accept, saying, he never received gold from any one; but that since his labors had gained him the esteem of the Empress, he begged she would send a deaf and dumb person to him to be educated, which he should deem a more flattering mark of her distinction. Not content with the rejection of presents and profits, which he had no wants nor passions to make necessary, his pious and charitable spirit caused him to impart very largely what he had to those whom he considered as the greatest objects of his compassion The expences attending the seminary which he established, were wholly defrayed by himself. He inherited an income as Mr. Buoilly informs, amounting to about 84,000 livres, about two thousand dollars, of which he allowed one seventh for his person, and considered the residue as the patrimony of the deaf and dumb, to whose use it was faithfully applied. So strictly he adhered to this appropriation, that in the rigorous winter of 1788, when in his 65th year, and suffering under the infirmities of age, he denied himself fuel rather than intrench upon the fund he had destined for them. His house-keeper having observed his rigid restriction, and doubtless imputing it to its real motive, led into his apartment forty of his pupils, who besought him with tears to preserve himself for their sakes. Having been thus prevailed upon to exceed his ordinary expenditure about 50 dollars, he would afterwards say, in playing with his scholars, "I have wronged my children out of a hundred crowns," For a person to devote the greatest portion of his life, and employ all his intellectual powers with exhaustless patience, and unwearied assiduity, in occupations otherwise extremely laborious, tedious and irksome, solely upon principles of religion and humanity, not only with a constant refusal and sincere contempt of gain, but even a profuse dispensation of hereditary fortune, must be allowed to be more than a common ardor of charity, a most exalted heighth of practical philanthrophy. The Abbe de Coldillace, well known in the republic of letters, and who applied himself successfully to the art of tuition, has mentioned the Abbe Epee's method with high praise. The academy at Zurich with ardor proclaimed his book replete with instruction. and recommeded its system to universal attention, and pronounced the whole world would profit from it. Mr. Heinich's method is intended to unite speech and talking with the fingers. It is not to be incompatible with Epee's method which has high commedation and a most benevolent object.

From the Political Index.

LAW CASES.—Two causes were tried at the late circuit in this county, before his honor Mr. Justice Platt, involving principles of much importance, and in which questions of law are raised for the decision of the supreme court, greatly interesting to many of our citizens. The first was Prime against Roe, an action brought by a young woman for a breach of promise of marriage. The defendant, when he made the promise, was but 20 years old—he refused to fulfil his engagement, and before he attained the age of 21, married another girl. He has no property of his own; but his father, with whom he still lives, is a farmer, in easy circumstances. The defence set up was infancy—that the defendant was not bound by his promise, made whilst a minor. The judge overruled the objection, and decided that the action was sustainable on this class of promises against any person of capacity to contract matrimony, which was at the age of 12 in females, and 14 in males. The jury found a verdict for the plaintiff of $1000 damages.

The question of law, whether an action will lie on such contract, is taken up to the supreme court.

The other case was Borden against Fitch. The mother prosecuted for seduction and loss of society, &c. of her daughter, by defendant's procuring a ceremony of marriage to be performed, falsely pretending himself to be a single man, when he had a wife then living. The defendant exhibited and proved a divorce from his former wife, granted by a supreme court of the state of Vermont, "for desertion of him by his wife and other causes," and an exemplification of the statute of that state, authorising such divorces to be given. It was proved that his former wife was a native of Connecticut, and had always resided in that state, except for a short period that she had resided with the defendant in New-York, and that he never had any settled residence but in Connecticut and New-York. The judge decided, that the divorce was obtained by the defendant in fraud of the marriage contract—that the parties not being both resident within the state of Vermont, the court of that state had no jurisdiction of the subject matter, and that the divorce being granted for causes not authorising one by the laws of this state, was of no force in our courts. That it accordingly afforded no justification to the defendant. He was a married man, and his second marriage fraudulent and void. It was proved that the plaintiff and her daughter second marriage, and that the defendant had always represented his wife to be dead.—The character and conduct of the defendant was proved to have discovered itself to be most attrocius and depraved. The jury retired a few minutes, and brought in a verdict for the plaintiff for $5000 damages—the whole amount claimed in the declaration.

The counsel for the defendant have taken the case to the supreme court for their opinion on the validity of the divorce: and should that court decide against the defendant, avow their determination to remove to the supreme court of the United States.

THE FAIR SEX.

[By the celebrated traveller Ledyard]

I have always remarked, that women, in all countries, are civil, obliging, tender, and humane; that they are ever inclined to be gay and cheerful, timorous and modest; and they do not hesitate, like men, to perform a generous action; not haughty nor arrogant, nor supercilious, they are full of courtesy, and fond of society; more liable to err, in general, than man, but in general more virtuous, and performing more good actions than he. To a woman, whether civilzed or savage, I never addressed myself in the language of decency and friendship, without receiving a decent and friendly answer.

In wandering over the barren plains of inhospitable Denmark, through Sweden, and frozen Lapland, rude churlish Finland, unprincipled Russia, and the wide spreading regions of the wandering Tartar, if hungry, wet, dry, cold, or sick, the women have ever been friendly to me.

NAPOLEON AND FOURNIER.

On the arrival of the emperor Napoleon from Elba, M. Fournier, perfect of the department of the Isere, issued at Greenoble several proclamations, to repel "the Adventurer—the rebel—who had disembarked anew on the coast of Frejus." The advance of Napoleon compelled Fournier to fly, and he took refuge at Lyons. On Napoleon being informed of the fact at Lyons, he sent for M. Fournier. "M. Fournier," said he, "the first time the Adventurer landed on these shores it was to dethrone Anarchy—this time he has landed only to dethrone Despotism: and he beholds with pleasure the learned and enlightened M. Fournier who accompanied general Bonaparte to Egypt; he feels he cannot better avenge himself for the proclamation of the perfect of Isere, or better testify his affection for the Lyonese, than in calling to perform the functions of the prefect of the Rhone, the worthy and virtuous magistrate whom he had never ceased to remember with esteem."

Latest Paris and London News—By the ship Hibernia, captain Graham, arrived at this port in 39 days from Havre, we have received Paris papers to the 5th of September, containing London dates to the 30th of August, inclusive. In these papers, we find the following articles:—

PARIS, Sept. 5.

The rains re-commenced on Friday last, and continued in a manner most deplorable for the harvests, which are not yet finished in many parts of the country. The temprature has become at the same time extremely cold, than which nothing can be more unfavorable to the vine. There was frost last night, and snow fell this morning, mingled with rain.

The agent of Christophe at Hamburgh, continues to recruit artists and scavans. A Hessian officer has been appointed chief of the Haytian artillery, with a very large salary.

An envoy of the Emperor of Morocco has arrived at Civita Vecchia, and has gone to Rome on a mission to the Pope.

PARIS, August 31.

An American frigate and a brig of the same nation attacked near Algiers five barbarian vessels. One of these vessels, in which was a nephew of the Dey, was taken and exchanged for the tribute which a Neapolitan vessel was carrying to Algiers for the deliverance of slaves. The Neapolitan officer boarded the American vessel, the captain of which said to him in the presence of the Dey's nephew "presents only render those to whom they are offered more eager for more. It is an act of weakness to submit to make them. Honor alone gives liberty and independence; it avenges injuries. Return to Naples, and tell your master that a son of America has freed the Mediterannean from the yoke of the Barbarian powers."

We have received accounts from Naples announcing that an American squadron under the command of commodore Chauncey and composed of a ship of the line, two frigates and a corvette had arrived before that city, having on board Mr. Pinckney who has demanded of the Neapolitan government 4,000,000 of piasters as an equivalent for American property, confiscated during the reign of Murat. Mr. Pinckney has, it is said, accompanied this claim with a threat of bombardment, if justice is not done. This demand has been rejected and preparations have been made to give the Americans a warm reception. The government have constructed furnaces to heat bullets and have mounted the batteries with cannon of heavy calibre. The Austrian troops, 12,000 of which the King of Naples has taken into his service, occupy the Castle of all the forts.—The Neapolitans are counting on the arrival of an English squadron to prevent the Americans from committing hostilities. Star.

Interesting Discovery.

To those who are so unfortunate as to be afflicted with

CANCERS,

AND to those whose feelings of humanity excite them to inquire and direct where they may obtain a perfect cure for that malady, in the most safe and effectual way:

Doctor Griggs,

No 277, North Second Street, Philadelphia,

Confident that his remedy is superior to all others that have ever been in practice, thinks it his duty to make it known to the public, that he has succeeded in effectually curing near one hundred persons in this city, of that most dreadful of all maladies, the CANCER, within the last two years, many of whom had despaired of ever obtaining a cure; of some whom had been attended in the Alms House and Hospital of this place, without success, and now are effectually cured.

By the afflicted's humble servant,
Daniel Griggs.

Stray Mare.

BROKE into the enclosure of the subscriber in St. Clair township, about 4 miles from Pittsburgh, in the night of the 5th inst. a Bay MARE, about 15 hands high, shod all round, no marks perceivable. The owner is desired to come and prove property, pay charges, and take her away.

JAMES M'GIBENY.
Allegheny county, October 15, 1816.

PITTSBURGH.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1816.

On Thursday morning last, the body of a new born infant was found in the Monongahela river, opposite the Point. No marks of external violence, except a slight extravasation of blood on the throat. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of wilful murder by a person unknown On the day following, Rebecca Johnston was arrested on suspicion, and confessed herself the mother of the child, but stated that it was still born. She was committed to prison to take her trial.

The Georgetown Messenger says, Gen. Ripley passed through Washington City on his way to New Orleans, where he is to take the command. We know of no officer to whom that important station could better be assigned.

The citizens of Louisville (Ky.) are making arrangements for establishing at that place an Hospital for the relief of sick and distressed Boatmen.

The Nashville papers state, that General Jackson returned home from the Indian nation on the 11th inst. We believe the conditions of the treaty with the two nations, to wit; the Chickasaws and Cherokees, amount to this: The former are to be paid annually the sum of Twelve thousand Dollars for ten years. The latter the sum of Eight thousand Dollars for the same period. By the treaty with the Cherokees, the United States regain all the lands which are included in the bounds specified by the late treaty made at Washington.

The British nation have stationed in France, 7,725 cavalry, and 26,310 infantry, exactly. The number of their Army, exclusive of the ordinance department, is 196,027, and the estimate of expences of various descriptions, is 8,877,148l. for G. Britain, 2,246,423l. for Ireland.

The late rains have extinguished the fires in the woods in Maine, New-Hampshire, &c. not, however, until extensive damage had been done. To the other losses that of a dwelling house in Bridgwater N. H. is added.

SEPARATION OF MAINE.

The Boston Gazette says, that the committee appointed to count the votes on the question of the separation of Maine, made report, on the 6th inst. in favour of separation, notwithstanding there was a deficiency of 1219 years.

Saturday last was a day of desolation for the city of New-Orleans. Towards twelve o'clock just when the workmen who were employed in the Ball room which Mr. Davis was erecting in Orleans street, were leaving their work to go to dinner, a very dark smoke and soon after a furious flame was perceived coming out by every opening of that building.—The citizens immediately repaired to the spot, but it would have been in vain to think of stopping so dreadful a fire which had in an instant caught to the whole building. To complete the evil the wind was blowing hard from the northward and throwing the flames on several wooden houses situate on the opposite side of the street. The ball room was soon consumed; and the Orleans theatre which was contiguous to it experienced the same fate. The two squares in front were destroyed, and the coflagration threatened to involve a considerable part of the city, when fortunately the wind slackened a little, which gave time to pull down a number of wooden buildings.—They by that means succeeded in stopping the progress of the dreadful element towards 3 o'clock, P. M.

The loss occasioned by that event is incalculable. The buildings destroyed may be valued at from five to six hundred thousand dollars, besides all the goods, furniture and effects, which were lost, broken or stolen. The Orleans Theatre and Mr. Davis's Ball room were two buildiugs which greatly contributed to the ornament of the city, and the neighborhood of which gave to that part of the city, a great value of which it is now deprived.

Amidst that disaster the zeal and activity displayed by a number of citizens, as well in putting out the fire, as in saving the property of those whose dwellings were burning has been remarkable. We have witnessed with admiration the courage of some officers of the navy, who with axes in their hands and among the flames, were working with that sangfroid which has distinguished them in so many circumstances. We have not heard, and we believe no life has been lost in the awful catastrophe.

Louisianna Gaz.

Letters from Madrid, mentioned in a London paper, say, "the American Ambassador has proposed to abandon the claims of his Government for seizures under Bonaparte's Decrees, on condition of West Florida being ceeded by Spain to the United States: but that FERDINAND's Ministers declined all negociations on the subject."

Hamilton was the first Secretary of the Treasury. The organization of this department required talents of the highest kind. These Hamilton possessed: and the organization was next to perfection. He continued six or seven years at its head. He was accused of fraud. Among his bitterest persecutors was James Monroe.—His innocence was made evident. He amassed no wealth by his office, for he was honest. His poverty compelled him to resign. [Virg. Pat.

[From the Norfolk Herald, Oct 14.]

To the politeness of passengers in the ship Achilles, we are indebted for a file of Antigua papers, latest date 19th Sept. from these and the information of the passengers themselves, we learn that the yellow fever had been raging with great violence at Antigua for several weeks, and caused a dreadful mortality among those of the inhabitants who were not thoroughly seasoned to the climate; among the natives, however and those who were inured to the climate, the effect of the disease was but slightly experienced. The contagion was brought to Antigua in a vessel from Guadaloupe, where it is said to have swept off nearly one third of the inhabitants. The company of Comedians from this place, who have been for some time past performing in the West Indies, were at Antigua when the fever commenced its ravages; Mr. Beaumont, the manager, and Mrs. Van Zandt, one of the actresses, soon caught the infectiou and died. The rest of the company, however, under the auspices of another manager, of the name of Allport, continued playing, notwithstanding the awful mortality which surrounded them.

From the Burlington Gazette. Oct. 10.

Extract of a letter from M. S. Sayres, Esq. to Col. J. R. Mullany, U. S. army dated Madeira, July 3, 1816.

"Colonel Macpherson* has had one opportunity since he has been here, of adding much to the well known honor of his character. To the surprize and mortification of the merchants of this Island he carried his point with the governour. It was on account of the American ship-master, who had his ship fired upon in consequence of parting her moorings and driving to sea, and on his getting into the harbour again was immediately arrested and sent to the castle. On information of which col. Macpherson went directly to the palace and demanded the captain to be released, which was refused. Col. M. then went to the castle, drew his sword, passed the centinel, and ordered the captain to follow him, which he did. After liberating him, Col. M. returned to the governour and informed him that as he was responsible for the conduct of the American citizens, he should not admit of their being confined without being informed of the cause."

*Col. M. is Consul for the United States for the island of Madeira, and was a distinguished officer during the late war.

STEAM BOATS.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 21.—We understand that an enterprising gentleman of this city proposes to organize a company, with a capital of 125,000 dollars, to build a steam boat to run between New Orleans and New York, with liberty to touch at the Havanna: the subscription has commenced propitiously, a considerable part of the capital having been already engaged, and no doubt can be entertained that it will be filled immediately on the proposals being submitted to the public spirited citizens of New York.

LYNCHBURGH, October 10.—The present Season.—A striking evidence, that the present season is not produced from a deficiency of a solar heat—is the very warm and dry weather which is said to prevail at present in Russia, Sweden, and Denmark—while Germany the Netherlands, France and Great Britain, labour under the same distresses as the U. States. Letters from Stockholm, and Petersburgh, announce that they have had warmer and drier weather, this last spring and summer, than for many years back. With respect to floods and freshes they have been much more frequent of late years than formerly. This may be easily accounted for. The more woods are cleared, the more marshes drained, and the upper country settled, the more channels there will be to convey away the rain which was before absorbed by the uncleansed grounds. We would therefore advise all farmers who reside upon the banks of large rivers to be more cautious of future in guarding against the sudden inundations. It is a natural consequence produced by every large stream to undermine and encroach upon its banks. These encroachments will yearly increase—and if we may judge from the changes which have occurred in the vicinity of the Danube, and the Rhine and the Rhone we may calculate that unless care be taken—the low grounds along many of the Rivers on the continent, will in a few years be rendered useless to the proprietors.

GRAND SPECTACLE.

Salem, Oct. 17.—The new brig which is now building in this town, by the order, and under the direction of Capt. George Crowninshield, exceeds every thing of the kind we have ever seen. Her model, by Mr. R. Becket, who it is confessed, has given us the most faultless specimens of naval architecture, combining swiftness with burthen, is pronounced by competent judges to be his chef d'oeuvre. The workmanship is in the best manner, and as no expence has been spared, it is probable she is the best built vessel in the country. The science and taste discovered in her rigging, is beyond any thing we ever had an idea of. As she has been built for a voyage of amusement and travels in the Mediterranean, her accommodations have been rendered the most convenient that can be placed on board a vessel. Her large dining room is in a style of richness and elegance never surpassed. She does great honor to the taste and skill of the mechanics and genius of the town, and we are happy to find that all the acquirements in naval architecture. from the practice of the best workmen for many years, have at length found an opportunity to produce so beautiful a specimen of the art. She is completely rigged, and her sails bent, as she now stands on the stocks; and must afford a grand spectacle at her launch, which we understand is to take place on Monday next.

It would appear that the Marquis of Anglesa, who lost a leg at the battle of Waterloo, is allowed to ride into the houses he visits. At Uxbridge-house, says a London paper, he rode up the flight of steps and into the hall, and through the principal state apartments.

Suicide.—On Wednesday last, some persons from Poughkeepsie, having in their custody a man charged with stealing a horse, whom had they been in pursuit of, & had apprehended in New Haven, were returning through Danbury on their way home, stopped for the night in that town, and committed their prisoner to the jail for safe keeping. In the morning following, when about to proceed on their journey, the prisoner was found dead in his room, hanging suspended with his handkerchief from the grates of the window. His sleeves were stripped up near the shoulders, and both arms shockingly cut with a piece of a glass bottle, with which it appeared he had endeavoured to destroy himself by bleeding, but finally effected the horrid deed by strangling, in which state he was found.—The deceased was a man of respectable appearance, and very handsomely clad, but refused to make any disclosure of his name or place of residence. Con. Courier.

POETRY.

The following beautiful ballad is extracted from the Dublin Examiner of July, a monthly magazine, conducted with ability.

GERALDINE—A BALLAD.

The moon was bright, and calm the night,
And sweetly smiled the lovely scene;
But deep the sigh, and wild the eye,
And sad the heart of Geraldine.

She sought the hill, where low and still,
In deathly sleep the vanquished lay:
She rent her hair in wild despair,
She could not weep, she dared not pray.

Hers was the tongue had wildly sung,
Of Erin's wrongs, and Erin's woes;
Hers was the hand did belt his brand,
When Connor for his country rose.

With valour vain, the patriot train,
Braving the Saxon thunder stood,
And desperate fray, deformed the day,
And night's dark veil was stained with blood.

Fierce was the strife for death or life—
Their hands were strong, their hearts were brave—
Till every gleam of freedom's dream,
Was buried in their Leader's grave.

The distant scene, bright and serene,
Was slumbering in the moon-light ray;
And near the mould, where pale and cold,
In blood and darkness Connor lay.

A sterner throe of frantic woe,
Thrilled in the mourner's tortured breast—
"Erin" she cried, "for thee he died—
On thee, on thee, his blood shall rest.

Though bathed in gore, he breathes no more,
In light and rest I see thee smile—
With hatred fierce, a daughter's curse,
Pursue and crush thee, thankless Isle!

Hark! from above, I hear my love—
I feel his glance of angry flame;
He hears me dare, in impious prayer,
To breath his Country's sacred name.

Yet dear that land, and patriot band,
Dear the green hills he loved so well—
Unstained and bright, as heavenly light,
The sacred cause for which he fell.

As well this breast, that loved him best,
Might breathe a curse o'er Connor's grave—
As raise the prayer of wild despair,
Against the land he died to save.

Death joins the ties, that death destroys,
And Connor's fate shall yet be mine"—
The orient ray, of early day,
'Rose on the grave of Geraldine.

MARY.

FROM SURRINAM.—Capt. Tagget, of the ship Gov. Tompkins, who arrived here last evening in 43 days from Paramaribo, Surrinam, states, that what are called the Rush Negroes in the vicinity of that place, had become very troublesome, committed daily excesses and murders both in and out of the city. It was feared they would commence a sudden attack upon the city; to prevent which, safety parties of soldiers were kept in continual motion.

The Russian Peasant and his Horse.

The Russian is scarcely ever seen to strike the animal over which he has power, his horse is seldom propelled by any other influence than a few cheering and encouraging sounds; and if this increase not his pace he does not, heated with savage fury, dissect the wretched beast with a scourge, beat out an eye or tear out his tongue. The Russian proverb is "It is not the horse but the oats that carry you." As long as the horse will eat he feeds him; and his appearance generally honors the humanity of his master.—Carr's Northern Sumer.

Steam Woolen Manufactory.

THE subscriber has on hand at his manufactory, which he offers for sale, on the most reasonable terms, the following Domestic Cloths, viz.

SUPERFINE BROAD CLOTHS,
CASSIMERES,
SATTINETS,
KERSEYNETS;

of different qualities, and a great variety of colors, suitable for the approaching season.

Having established his manufactory on an extensive scale, and at a very great expence, he will at all times be able to furnish any orders with which he may be favoured. Although an appeal to the patriotism of his fellow citizens, in support of the infant manufactures of their country, may not alone succeed; yet, when this appeal is made at a time when the rate of exchange between the western and the eastern states is greatly to our disadvantage, interest may induce merchants and others to turn their attention to the promotion and support of their own manufactories.

He assures the public that his prices are such as to be worthy their attention, particularly to those who purchase largely. He will give a credit of six, nine or twelve months, according to the quantity purchased, payable by negotiable notes in either of the banks in Pittsburgh.

He takes this method of returning thanks for the liberal encouragement he has received in the fulling and wool carding business, and requests a continuance.

Country cloth dressed as usual at the shortest notice. Machinery for this purpose being of the most complete kind, and in perfect order.

CURE FOR COUGHS, COLDS, &c.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A SOVEREIGN REMEDY for Colds, obstinate Coughs, Asthmas, Sore Throats, and approaching Consumptions, and most disordes of the breast and lungs.

A SINGLE TRIAL

Will prove, that it restores the determination of the fluid to the surface of the body, and brings on the common healthful perspiration; that it dislodges and evacuates the tough viscid phlegm or mucus, strengthens the weakened vessels of the lungs, sheathes the acrimonious humor which irritates them, and finally discharges it. Thus striking at the root of the disorder, the symptoms are of course effectually and permanently conquered; the reverse of common medicines, which weaken the constitution and give strength to the disorder, for the sake of moderating for the present some of its painful effects.

To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is so perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small, that no difficulty arises in taking it.

TO H. LEE.

Being desirous to make public, for the good of others, the excellent quality of HAMILTON'S ELIXIR, prepared by the late Mr. Lee, I have sent you the following account of the benefit I have received from it, which I hope will induce others to give it a trial. In consequence of a bruise on the breast received from a fall, my health grew bad, my breathing became very difficult, and frequently I have had to rise up in my bed, with all the horrors of immediate suffocaton. Add to these a constant pain in my breast, and a cough, a great loss of strength and flesh, and you may conceive that my symptoms evidently indicated an approaching consumption. The advise of a most eminent physician was resorted to, and afterwards a second was called in, but without giving me any relief. Another physician who knew me and the circumstances of my case, advised me to give Hamilton's Elixir a trial, saying, he had used it in his practice, and always found it to do much good. A bottle was procured from Mr. Birch's, and I found relief before I had taken half of it. I continued to use it, and was soon strong enough to attend to business. On taking cold some of my former symptoms return, but are always removed by a dose or two of the Elixir.

The Real Estate of STEEL SEMPLE, Deceased.

THIS LAND is situated within 2 and 3 miles of Pittsburgh, and is divided into small Lots of from five, six, ten and twelve acres.

The survey and draft are now completed, and the lines of the Lots and lanes, plainly and distinctly marked on the ground.

This land is fertile, near to the city, and convenient to good roads. It is so divided as to be convenient for gardners, persons desirous of attending market, or to farmers of small capital. As Out-lots, they are well suited to persons residing in the city.

They are offered for Sale on a credit of from twelve to eighteen months. The plan can be seen at my office. WILLIAM WILKINS.

Valuable Real Estate for Sale.

PURSUANT to the last Will and Testament of the late Col. RICHARD BROWN, deceased,

I NOW OFFER FOR SALE,

The Farm on which he resided,

On the Ohio River, in Holliday's Cove, in Brooke County, Virginia.

This Estate consists of about 700 Acres of Land, 250 of which is a rich Island, the remainder principally second bottom and upland; that part of the upland which is not tillable, is covered with timber suitable for furnishing the Island and tillable part with fencing and building timber. There is between 150 and 200 acres cleared and under cultivation, a suitable proportion of which is good meadow land. The buildings consist in two log dwelling houses and a log barn with under story of stone. It is well supplied with very fine springs of good water.

The situation of this property on the Ohio River, five miles from the flourishing Town of Steubenville, and in the neighbourhood of several Merchant Mills, Iron Works, &c. renders it a desirable object to a person who would wish to farm extensively, as he would probably at all times find a good market at his door for the produce of his farm. A part of the purchase will be required in hand, and for the remainder a reasonable credit will be given.

REZ. WELLS, Executor.

Steubenville, 5th July, 1816. tf

RYE.

SIXTY-TWO CENTS AND AN HALF in Cash, or the highest Market Price, will be given for good Merchantable RYE, delivered at the corner of Water and Ferry Streets, by the subscriber.

WILLIAM HAMILTON.
